Paris, May 12.—Resignation of Premier Raymond Poincaré and a complete revision of French policy regarding the Ruhr and reparations is imminent today as a result of the sensational defeat of the bloc national in Sunday's general election.

Paris, May 12.—Prediction was made today that Premier Poincaré and his cabinet would resign within twenty-four hours as a result of the defeat of the bloc national parties in the French general election.

tained a crushing victory. The policies of this group were peace, economy and international agreements.

According to incomplete returns, the left will have a substantial working majority in the next chamber of deputies.

Meanwhile the Poincaré newspapers are silent. They warn the people to wait for the final returns before there should be any rejoicing.

Leaders of the anti-Poincaré faction said there were many reasons for the strong support of the left. They claim that the French people are tired of an aggressive policy which keeps every hope in a turmoil and that they are opposed to an increase in taxes.

It is expected that the radical Socialist party, headed by Eduard Herriot, will be the dominant party in the next chamber.

Herriot was elected by a big majority in the Ferrault constituency. On the basis of figures given out by the foreign office this afternoon, the left bloc claimed a majority of ninety in the chamber of deputies.

The official news agency, through which the government was making its announcements, admitted a majority of thirty. According to the foreign office there will be 19 conservatives, 118 Republicans and ninety Left Republicans, totalling 227 for the bloc national. It requires 233 for a majority in the chamber.

It is understood there will be 24 communists.

Based upon incomplete returns, the left bloc was conceded 317 seats as follows:

Independent radicals 49, radical socialists 137, republican socialists 20 and unified socialists 111.

Former Premier Briand was elected but General Menourey, war hero, was defeated. Andre Tardieu, former French high commissioner to the United States, was reported elected in the Seine et Oise district but later it was said the result was in doubt.

Returns from the provinces indicated that the parties opposing Premier Poincaré were winning.

The newspaper Quotidien and L'Ouvre, supporting the anti-Poincaré faction, openly demanded the resignation of both President Millerand and Premier Poincaré.

A complete change of French policy towards German occupation, reparations and international debts loomed today as a possibility as a result of the defeat of the Poincaré parties in the French general election Sunday.

Although the returns are incomplete, indications are that the left bloc which has been opposing the Poincaré policies in the chamber of deputies has been victorious.

The French people, evidently are tired of Poincaré's aggressive policies which have kept Europe stirred up for four years.

During his tenure, Poincaré has built up the most powerful military establishment in Europe, principally in the Ruhr. Also it has been part of his program to keep French troops in the Ruhr to guarantee indemnity payments to refuse to make any immediate provision for the payment of war debts, and to negotiate military agreements with various powers surrounding Germany. Such agreements have been concluded with Belgium, Poland, Roumania and Czechoslovakia.

TRAIN HITS AUTO; ONE DEAD, 2 HURT

Wheeling, W. Va., May 12.—This morning at 7 o'clock a B. and O. train struck an auto on a southside crossing, killing Earl Farmer instantly, while Louis Kalbitzer, 40, and Thomas Neer, 30, are in the hospital with perhaps fatal injuries. The men were on their way to work, and apparently did not see the approaching train, during a blinding rain.

TWO ARE DROWNED

Canton, O., May 12.—Two boys were drowned in Meyers Lake Sunday night about 8:15. The names of the youths were not learned Monday morning at 8 o'clock.

MONDAY IS 38TH ANNIVERSARY OF BIG XENIA FLOOD

Monday was the thirty-eighth anniversary of Xenia's worst catastrophe, the flood of May 12, 1886.

A cloud-burst east of Xenia swelled the two branches of the Shawnee Creek, and they swept through the city, washing out the lowlands and their occupants.

Twenty-nine lives were lost and thousands of dollars worth of property damage done in the storm, which raged between 7 and 12 at night. Fourteen pictures of the results of the flood, owned by U. E. Clark, Hill Street, were on exhibition Monday in the window of the Donges drug store, Detroit and Second Streets.

WEST VIRGINIA AND MARYLAND FACING FLOODS

Many Families Homeless
As Heavy Rains Bring
High Water.

Wheeling, W. Va., May 12.—Incessant rains throughout West Virginia during the last forty-eight hours, is bringing flood conditions to many sections. In the past twenty-four hours an inch and a half of rain has fallen here, with an inch in the previous forty-eight hours. Rain conditions were general along the Monongahela and its tributaries, and the Potomac.

At Keyser, early reports today stated 300 families were homeless and at Piedmont many families had been forced to vacate homes before the rising waters. Fears are entertained for a repetition of the disaster of March 29 in the eastern part of the state.

Local river authorities declared at 11 o'clock this morning that data as to rainfall on upper tributaries was too incomplete to estimate a probable state here.

Cumberland, Md., May 12.—Heavy rainfall during the past three days threatened towns in western Maryland and parts of West Virginia with another flood today.

Reconstructions of houses and other property damaged by the Potomac river flood a few weeks ago has hardly been completed. The water rose here this morning almost as high as it did previously.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 12.—Although impossible to predict how high the waters will go here, a flood stage of the waters is to be predicted here by noon tomorrow, the prediction of Weather Forecaster Brotzman this afternoon.

Incessant rains upon the river watersheds will cause the flood, Brotzman asserted.

OFFER QUARTERS FOR FEW Dimes

Once upon a time not so very long ago—a lady named Mrs. F. Wike, whose address was 707 S. Detroit street, found it necessary to seek new quarters in Xenia.

She wanted a six or seven room house with furnace and bath, and one centrally located.

So what did she do but send out a little messenger who interviewed all these landlords in one day. In other words she employed a Gazette-Republican classified ad and by spending a few small dimes she had several different quarters where to find the quarters you want—just call 111 and ask for an ad-taker.

POLICEMAN KILLED AND FOUR OTHERS INJURED IN CHASE AFTER BANDITS

Philadelphia, May 12.—Edward McAndrews, 30, a policeman, and a former well known boxer, was instantly killed today and four others were injured; three seriously, when an automobile in which they were chasing bandits, skidded and crashed into a telephone pole. The bandits escaped.

Her acceptance was posted on the opposite side of the glass—and the elopement went through, despite the orders of the Health Department. Now, entirely recovered, the couple are receiving family blessings.

CONGRESS PLANS TO OVERRIDE ADMINISTRATION OPPOSITION

Washington, May 12.—At war with the White House over legislation affecting national finances, congress drafted battle plans today for the enactment into law of its own fiscal policies, despite administration opposition or presidential vetoes.

Three great fiscal measures—the Bursum pension bill, the world war bonus and the new tax reduction program—were enroute to the statute books in face of White House disapproval, according to indications because of rebellious congress.

A revolt started by coalitions of Democrats and insurgent Progressives, was reported spreading to administration ranks for the avowed purpose of overriding the financial policies laid down by the president. The first test is due today or tomorrow in the senate on a reconsideration of the Bursum bill.

HOOVER URGES COAL USERS TO PUT IN SUPPLY AT ONCE

Washington, May 12.—Secretary Hoover, Sunday appealed to the nation's coal consumers to prevent a coal shortage by laying in coal supplies during the summer.

He urged industries to purchase their stocks during the slack coal season to prevent congestion on the railroads during the fall, which, he said would tend to increase the coal prices and create a shortage.

"The fall coal shortage," Secretary Hoover wrote, "always has the effect of increasing the price of coal and of seriously disturbing the whole economic machine."

"Security lies in repeating the storage performance of last year by the manufacturers of the country taking reserves of coal during the months of May, June and July, thus foregoing the necessity of coal shipments during the peak period in competition with the household movement. Outside of strike years, these summer months are universally the period of lowest bituminous coal prices."

"We also have a national problem in the long view of securing cheaper coal by maintaining more regularity in the production of our coal mines through planning out its seasonal fluctuations."

CARS IN PITTSBURGH STILL IDLE; HOPE TO AVOID VIOLENCE

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 12.—With all plans to operate cars with strikebreakers abandoned until at least noon, possible riots and violence between 3,200 striking street railwaymen and imported workers were postponed until another conference between union and company officials.

The decision to postpone operation of the cars by the force of men rushed here in special trains from other cities, came after an all night conference of executive representatives of the men, railway company officials, the mayor and federal and state conciliators.

At the conference it was agreed that a special meeting of the carmen would be called for noon today to vote on a new proposition to end the strike. The conference did not end until early this morning. All the plans had been completed to operate the cars with strikebreakers the management of the company announced and if the new negotiations fail, the cars will be operated as first planned.

BILLY SUNDAY IS ILL BUT IMPROVING

Memphis, Tenn., May 12.—The condition of Billy Sunday, evangelist, who has been suffering from effects of ptomaine poisoning since Friday was reported much improved by physicians here today. He is conducting a seven weeks revival here and attendants reported he may be able to resume his preaching tomorrow.

FLYER GIVEN UP AS DEAD IS FOUND WILL NOT CONTINUE WORLD FLIGHT

ARMY OFFICERS SAY COMMANDER WILL COME HOME

Story of Martin's Crash In Aleutian Range Expected
To Prove Epic

Washington, May 12.—Major Frederick L. Martin, leader of the army's around-the-world airplane flight, who has turned up safe at Port Moller, a small trading post, on the bleak Alaskan peninsula, after being lost in the wilderness for twelve days, will not attempt to continue the flight, it was said here today.

Orders probably will be dispatched to the flight commander and his assistant Sergeant Alva Harvey to return to the United States, leaving the other three planes to continue the journey.

News of Martin's safety, after crashing into a mountain peak and wrecking his flagship plane the Seattle, was received with undisguised joy today in army, navy and government circles. He crashed on April 30, and until his arrival on foot yesterday at Port Moller, nothing had been heard from him, Sergeant Harvey or their plane.

Army officials said today it would be impractical for Martin to attempt to rejoin his companions, who are now some 1,500 miles beyond him and waiting favorable conditions to hop off for Japan.

It would take weeks for a new plane and outfit to reach Martin and Harvey. Their own ship, the Seattle, is wrecked beyond hope of salvage according to the meagre advices that have reached Washington.

The story of Martin's crash in the Aleutian range and the subsequent twelve days wandering in that little inhabited country before reaching a settlement is expected to prove an epic. The commander and his flight assistant were well equipped with emergency rations, matches and firearms, however, and officers familiar with the conditions said it was probable the flyers experienced no hardships from the standpoint of hunger and thirst. Climatic conditions in that region are bad at this time of the year, and difficulties of traveling are enormous there being no roads and few trails.

The arrival of the missing flyers at Port Moller ends one of the most extensive searches ever instituted by the government for one of its lost representatives.

For twelve days the waters of Alaska have been searched by cutters, fishing vessels, destroyers and boats of every description. Dog teams have even been dispatched over the snowy wastes in an effort to locate the missing men.

While awaiting details of Martin's experiences, army officials hastened today to speak high praise for the courageous fight the flight commander and his assistant put up against terrific odds.

"The game fight which the flyers undoubtedly made in getting in to port is an inspiration to the entire service," said Secretary of War Weeks.

Hearing of the appeal of H. T. Confer, discharged policeman, will be held before the Civil Service Commission next Monday, May 19, it is announced.

SET HEARING DATE BEFORE COMMISSION

Confer was permanently discharged when the City Commission sustained three of five charges preferred against him by City Manager S. O. Hale, after an open hearing at City Hall.

He appealed the case to the Civil Service Commission and then his attorneys, J. Fred Anderson and E. F. McKee, Springfield, waived the right allowed them in the city charter, to a hearing in ten days.

The hearing before the Civil Service Commission will be held on the transcript of the evidence from the hearing before the City Commission, with the privilege granted both sides to introduce additional witnesses or testimony not heard before the City Commission.

Halle, Germany, May 12.—Fifteen German Communists and two policemen were killed and more than 100 wounded in rioting which broke out in connection with the unveiling of a statue of Field Marshal Von Moltke. The rioting raged all night.

MOTHERS' DAY IS HAPPY ONE FOR FLYER'S PARENT

Connersville, Ind., May 12.—"It has certainly been a wonderful Mother's day for me," said Mrs. Nancy J. Martin, mother of Major Frederick L. Martin, when informed the aviator is safe at Port Moller, Alaska.

Mrs. Martin, who was overjoyed at receipt of the news, said she had given up all hope of her son ever being found alive.

"My hopes died when no word was received after he had been missing for three days," she said.

Mrs. Martin, whose home is in Richmond, Ind., has been visiting a sister near here.

GOVERNOR ATTACKS TELEPHONE FIRM'S RATE PROPOSITION

Columbus, May 12.—Again attacking efforts of the Bell Telephone Company to increase phone rates, Governor Donahey today issued an appeal to Ohio voters to elect only such candidates for state senator and representative as will vote for legislation providing for a probe of the telephone company and amending the State Utilities Commission act by decreeing that a final hearing must be held before the committee before any increase in telephone rates can be effective. The governor said present rates should be reduced.

The governor charged that the Ohio Bell Company is not entitled to increased phone rates and urged an investigation by state officials of the telephone situation for the protection of telephone users.

Cleveland, May 12.—"It is discouraging to us to be the subject of attack for political purposes and to have our integrity questioned when we ask for rates that will yield even less than a fair return upon the property devoted to the public's use," C. P. Cooper, president of the Ohio Bell Telephone Company in a statement issued here today in reply to one given out by Governor Donahey in Columbus.

"The telephone company feels that it has the support of its subscribing public in its effort to furnish adequate and dependable telephone service which is an economic necessity to our business and social life."

Stolen Xenia car recovered Sunday

A Buick touring car owned by Mrs. Clara G. Reutinger, West Market Street, and stolen in Dayton Saturday night was recovered early Sunday morning in Miami-S. O. Hale, after an open hearing at City Hall.

The car had been parked at Second and Ludlow Streets, Dayton, by Edwin Reutinger. It was discovered by Miami-Sburg police only a few hours after its disappearance from the Dayton streets.

When recovered the car had been rifled of accessories, all the tires and the rims being removed, and a robe taken from the tonneau. Mr. Reutinger went to Miami-Sburg Monday with a service car to equip the machine with tires and rims and drive it home. The loss of accessories is covered by insurance.

THRILLING TALE OF HARDSHIPS TOLD BY MEN

Plane Wrecked in Crash
for Days.

Port Moller, Alaska, May 12.—Back from the jaws of death, Major Frederick L. Martin and Staff Sergeant Alva Harvey of the flagplane Seattle of the American around-the-world cruise today awaited instructions from the air service at this tiny cannery port after a series of experiences that will go down in history of air trail making, as miraculous.

Missing since April 30 and given up for dead, by hardened Alaskans when the most widespread search ever conducted on Alaskan soil failed to discover a trace of them, Major Martin and Sergeant Harvey walked in here yesterday and flashed the word to the world they were alive and well.

Major Martin and Sergeant Harvey left Chignik about 11 a.m. April 30, headed for Dutch Harbor where they hoped to catch up with their three companion flyers.

A scant hundred miles west of Chignik, the giant Douglas plane, flagship of the globe-circling cruise, in a dense fog and snow storm, crashed into a mountain.

It was completely wrecked but fortunately, according to Major Martin, neither of its occupants sustained serious injuries.

Then began a battle against cold, snow and ice.

"Our existence is due to the reserve supply of concentrated food which we carried in the plane for just such an emergency," Major Martin declared in announcing the safety of himself and mechanic. "This food supply was undamaged in the crash and due to its concentrated form was readily portable."

The two flyers headed for the coast on foot and finally reached an abandoned trapper's cabin on the southernmost point of Point Moller Bay.

There, exhausted by the battle against the severe conditions, which had confronted them, the two flyers rested for three days.

Meanwhile every possible agency was being utilized in a search for the two men. The coast guard cutters Algonquin and Haida and the coast survey ship Pioneer assisted by every available cannery vessel in the Aleutian peninsula waters conducted a hunt along the rugged coast line while searching parties of Indians and trappers went far inland.

RESUME ARGUMENTS IN LANGLEY TRIAL

Covington, Ky., May 12.—Arguments were resumed at 10 o'clock this morning in the case of Congressman John Wesley Langley, of Kentucky, on charges involving the sale of liquor in connection with the issuance of liquor withdrawal permits.

There was little prospect that the case would reach the jury before late in the day, if at all before night, because there was no limit on the length of time that each attorney in the case might use for argument.

CLOCK IN COURT HOUSE IS MOVED UP TO FAST TIME

County Commissioners voted Monday morning to move the Court House clock to correspond with daylight saving time.

Simultaneous with the announcement the clock in the Court House tower was advanced one hour to agree with Xenia time, and the clocks in all offices in the building were also moved up.

Action of the commissioners was expected to be especially pleasing in Xenia, confusion being caused here three years ago when Xenia observed daylight saving time and the Court House clock remained on old time. At that time part of the offices operated on new time and part on old time. Now all will be on daylight saving time.

The Xenia Postoffice began operation on the more daylight schedule also Monday morning. The action was taken as has been customary to conform to the time being observed in the city.

Xenians turned up their clocks Saturday night and began observance of the new time without confusion Sunday.

MODISH MITZI—Harry's Broken Heart Is Mending

Harry thought his heart was permanently broken when Mitzi turned him down, but he is finding Adelaide's company most consoling. They are going to have lunch together and Adelaide has put on her new three-piece suit to do the occasion justice. Brown satin with a short coat, and an apron tunic on the dress.

Mitzi, of course, sees them. Life is like that. She is rather surprised and not entirely pleased, because she thought Harry belonged to her—even if she did refuse to marry him. She will console herself, though, by admiring her coat dress of black rep trimmed with white satin. Her hat is black and white, too.

Polly, who has come to meet Mitzi, is equally surprised. Mitzi is pretending she knew it all the time and turns the subject by admiring Polly's costume. It is a simple twill frock with the boyish lines that Polly prefers and is trimmed with wide pleated cuffs and a jabot of sheer cream-colored net.

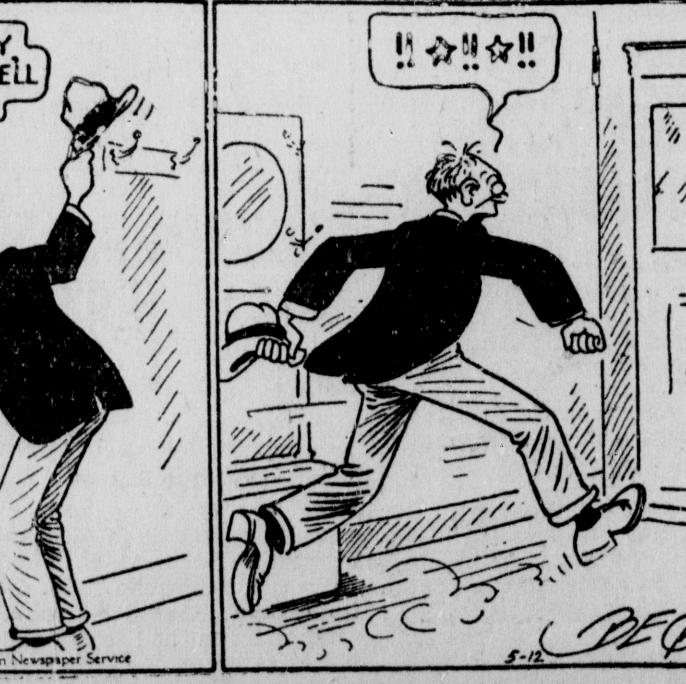

This settles it. They don't even see Polly—they are so absorbed in each other. Really they are discussing clothes, and fashions, and all that sort of thing. They have discovered she's a very intelligent person (and so well dressed) and she thinks she always did think him charming.

Perfidious savages

IN THE Torres Straits Islands in the East Indies, there are no trees suitable for canoe building. So the natives, a cruel, treacherous race, import their canoes from the Fly River Delta in New Guinea—another place with an unenviable reputation. The distance between these two places is over four hundred miles, and no native in that region travels even one-quarter of that distance.

The word is simply passed on from tribe to tribe. On the strength of this vague order a canoe is built. Then it is relayed back. Each tribe of bloodthirsty cannibals tests and discusses it before passing it on. Finally the payment, shell necklaces, spear points, arm bands, makes its way to the canoe builders in the same leisurely fashion.

There is reason for this honesty in savages to whom perfidy is natural. If any of the parties in this complicated transaction were to risk being dishonest, their credit would be ruined. And though these natives may kill and eat each other, they hold barter inviolate.

Even savages understand that in commerce it pays to be honest, and to let the world realize your honesty! So in modern business. Advertising must be honest and it is a proof of honesty. A product's advertising is the best guarantee of its quality, usefulness and value.

The man who advertises is inviting your inspection. He is letting his goods stand on their own merit. He can't afford to deceive you. You can depend on him. That's why it pays to read advertising and to buy advertised goods.

OUR AIM IN CUBA

Thus the publicity agent of the Cuban junta in New York, supposedly the extraterritorial headquarters of the revolutionary movement in the island:

The difficulty for us does not lie in the prohibition of arms, but in the fact that the Zayas Government will cause it to be whispered among the ignorant that the United States is behind him and wants to see him continue to be President. He will undoubtedly do this, and a lot of Cubans will believe him, interpreting the embargo and the furnishing of arms as a sign of intervention. The educated Cubans will not be misled. They know that men with the principles of President Coolidge and Secretary Hughes could not sympathize with a Government built on graft, corruption and exploitation when they know exactly what the Zayas Government is—as they do.

Herein appears the not unusual misconception and misinterpretation of American motives and purposes. The Washington Government does want Zayas "to continue to be President"—unless the Cubans vote him out in a lawful election. It will supply him with arms and ammunition to enable him to stay in, just as it did in the case of Obregon in Mexico. The principle is that even a bad Government in power is preferable to an armed uprising, with its inevitable suffering, and that the suppression of every armed uprising against the duly constituted authorities is a step in the direction of law and order which will, in the customary phrase, outlaw the bullet in favor of the ballot.

The United States does realize that the Zayas Government has been "built on graft, corruption, and exploitation" and has brought all legitimate pressure to bear for a correction of these evils. But the necessity is also recognized of educating the Cubans, and other Latin-Americans we can influence, away from their tradition of revolution, and one phase of this education lies in forestalling, where possible, victory for revolutionaries.

Many Latin-Americans call us hard names for acting as we do. It may well be that the attempt at education is futile. But in choosing between the two evils, there is something to be said for the soundness of the motive.

DR. BUTLER IS OUT SQUARELY FOR WET G. O. P. PLANK

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university and a delegate to the Republican national convention in Cleveland next month, has come out squarely for the insertion of an anti-prohibition plank in the 1924 G. O. P. platform.

His declaration that his party must take that step "as the only way to get back to sound constitutional government" is the latest phase of the nation-wide controversy he stirred up 10 days ago when, in a speech before the New York members of the Missouri society, he launched a vigorous attack on the Volstead act, the Eighteenth Amendment and liquor law enforcement generally.

The Columbia president, in a statement has added that the Republican party stood in danger of losing 11 states in the coming presidential election if it did not take a decisive stand against the existing prohibition situation. His remarks also were construed as a challenge to the Anti-Saloon league, which he attacked in his Missouri society talk.

Declaring he had received assurance of support from governors of states and party leaders throughout the country, he added: "They have called my attention to the danger to the party if it fails to satisfy public opinion or if it allows itself to be allied even in appearance with the activities of the Anti-Saloon League."

Should the G. O. P. fail to take a platform stand against existing prohibition conditions, Dr. Butler said, it was threatened with the loss of Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, Delaware, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New York, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Connecticut and Massachusetts.

Dr. Butler refused to state what steps, if any, he personally would take toward having the Cleveland convention nail an anti-prohibition plank into the 1924 platform.

POINCARÉ HOLDS HIS FORT

Premier Poincaré has seen fit to point out once again what he considers the pivotal points in applying the Dawes program for the collection of German reparations. First, the economic exploitation of the Ruhr and the Rhineland, which has already begun to bear fruit, will be given up only after the new regime is put into execution, not before. Second, the troops that are occupying these territories will be withdrawn only in proportion to German payments.

About the first point there can be no reasonable difference of opinion. The Dawes plan provides, succinctly and definitely, that "existing measures" will be withdrawn or sufficiently modified as soon as Germany has put into execution the plan recommended. "It was not contemplated at all that France should modify the present arrangements beforehand."

Concerning the withdrawal of troops, no recommendations could be made by the Dawes committee. As France cannot trust Germany to follow through with the plan once it has been initiated, it is only logical that the occupation should continue in case another Ruhr lesson is necessary. If, however, Great Britain would consent now to act with France in case of Germany's default in the future, the necessity for continuing the occupation would virtually disappear.

One other point is to be noted in this connection. The payments from Germany under the Dawes program must cover everything, including military expenses in the Ruhr. France can use a portion of her reparations collections to keep soldiers in the Ruhr or in Timbuktu, as her best interests demand. For the time being decision is in favor of the Ruhr.

The long and the short of it is that Premier Poincaré's policy toward Germany has brought results for France and that this policy need not be appreciably changed to meet and further the new economic and financial regime based upon the Dawes report.

THE SURE WAY TO HAVE WAR ELIMINATED

1904--Twenty Years Ago--1924

The work of remodeling the Pan Handle Hotel and restaurant has begun. Extensive changes will be made now that the control of the property has passed into the hands of the Pennsylvania company.

This is the 12th of May and, lest we forget, it is well to recall the fact that on this day 18 years ago, Xenia suffered a baptism, not of fire, but of water, which destroyed property to the extent of thousands and took 28 lives.

Mr. Theodore Neff, proprietor of the famous Neff grounds at Yellow Springs and Mr. J. W. Parker, superintendent of the S. and X. Traction Company, gave a dinner last night to a number of newspaper men. The newspaper men from Xenia were, Mr. L. H. Whitman, until recently editor of the Herald; Mr. Fred C. Kelly, of the Press-Republican, and Mr. F. L. Smith, of the Xenia Gazette.

Fillets of Cod: For the sake of my bride readers, I will begin this recipe by explaining that a fillet is a piece of fish, large or small, which is freed from skin and bones. Cod, haddock and white fish are all easily and frequently boned in this way before cooking. The most satisfactory way to fry fillets is in deep fat.

Rub each fillet with flour, dip in slightly-beaten egg diluted with one-fourth cup of cold water to each egg, and roll in fine, dry bread crumbs. Place in a frying basket and lower into deep fat which is hot enough to brown a small cube of bread in a minute and a half. Serve the cooked fish with the following:

Hollandaise Sauce: Cream one-fourth cup of butter and add to it the beaten yolk of one egg, a pinch of salt, a dash of pepper and one-fourth cup of boiling water. Put this mixture in the top of a double boiler and cook, stirring constantly, till it thickens, then remove from fire, add one tablespoon of lemon juice, cool, and serve on the hot fillets.

Spinach Salad: Chop left-over cooked spinach finely and measure. To one cup of it add one hard-boiled egg cut small, (the yolk mashed), one small raw onion finely minced, and one tablespoon of bottled Mayonnaise dressing press this mixture into a small cups, to mould, filling each little cup only one-half full. At meal time slip the spinach-mounds out of the cups onto crisp lettuce, top with a dab of bottled dressing, and serve. (If you have on hand a little cooked red sweet pepper or pimientos, these will make a very pretty addition, mixed with the salad before moulding.)

Onion Souffle: Cook silver-skin onions in boiling salted water till tender, then drain, reserving water, and rub the onions through a wide-meshed sieve. You will need one and one-half cups of this onion-pulp. Now melt one-fourth cup of butter in a saucepan, add one-fourth cup of flour, one-third cup of the onion water and one-third cup of hot-top-milk (or cream). Blend thoroughly, then add the onion pulp and let reheat to boiling point. Season with salt and pepper to suit taste, add the beaten yolks of three eggs, remove from range, and fold in three stiffly-beaten egg-whites. Turn all into a buttered baking dish and bake twenty-five minutes in a moderate oven. Serve at once.

Watch your pimples vanish

Why? Pimple-Poison goes when Red-Blood-Cells increase! S. S. S. builds these Red-Blood-Cells!

You can be sure of this, nature has no substitute for red-blood-cells. Pimple-poison can't live in the red rivers of your blood as long as there are

Every woman, every man, can now have enough rich red-blood-cells in it. More red-blood-cells! That is what you need when you see pimples staring at you in the mirror. Blackheaded pimples are worse! Eczema is worse yet! You can try everything under the sun,—you'll find only one answer, more cell-power in your blood! The tremendous results, produced by an increase in red-blood-cells is one of the A. B. C.'s of medical science. Red-cells mean clear, pure, rich blood. They mean clear, ruddy, lovable complexions. They mean nerve power, because all your nerves are fed by your blood. They mean freedom forever from pimples, from the blackhead pest, from boils, from eczema and skin eruptions, from rheumatic impurities, from that tired, exhausted, run-down feeling. Red-blood-cells are the most important thing in the world to each of us. S. S. S. will build them for you. S. S. S. has been known since 1826, as one of the greatest blood-builders, blood-cleansers and system strengtheners ever produced. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The large size bottle is more economical.

Today's Talks

THE HARDEST THING

A newspaper man interviewed one of the nation's most prominent Governors the other day. And this is what the Governor said:

"To see the right thing is easy, but to have the courage to go ahead and do the right thing is what counts"—and he gave as the secret of his administration that he had tried to do this, without consulting friend or foe.

After all, it doesn't take anything beyond ordinary intelligence to see the right thing, but it takes extraordinary courage to do the right thing. It often loses friends, and it brings loneliness of spirit and many times leads one to a solitary path where the way must be taken alone.

Both Roosevelt and Wilson had this courage. There were times in their lives when they both felt the bitterness of isolation, but the immortality of both is now secure; countless generations shall rise to pay honor and homage to their worth and ideals.

Sometimes, the feeling comes to us, who are just walkers in the ranks, and very obscure, that the right thing isn't always important. But it is if we are to taste of happiness at all.

One of the richest rewards that doing the right thing brings is contentment. This is what makes you sleep at night, when your body is given to its bed, and this is what makes you wake in the morning refreshed and ready for the work of another day.

The hardest thing in life is always the most important thing, too. Take the builder, who spends the largest part of his money and skill in setting the right foundations—he knows that his great structure of steel must rest on solid rock. The doing of the right thing from day to day is the solid rock of the great and helpful that we want so much to be.

THE FISHERMAN
Said I, "Been fishing?" "Yes," said he.
And showed his string of fish to me.
"The most of them are rather small. Good for the pan, but that is all. Here's one that's fairly big, and here is the best I've caught this year. But nothing on the string would weigh as much as those that got away."
Said I, "You lost them?" "Yes," said he.
"The big ones were too much for me. I had them fairly hooked, and then somehow they got away again."

One was a beauty! Twice I thought For sure I had that fellow caught; At last, said I, a prize is mine— Then with a jerk he snapped my line.
Thought I, are we not fishers all, Striking our catches great and small? Home bound at night with little deers Which serve the countless little needs, Cheered by the love of those who wait And think our tiny conquests great, But saying what all anglers say: The largest splendors got away!

PINCHOT ATTACKS SECRETARY MELLON AT M. E. MEETING

Springfield, Mass., May 12.—Assailing President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University as a nullifier of the prohibition law and Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon as an open defender of its violation, Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania brought 3,000 Methodists to their feet in wild applause at the men's convention here last night.

"The secretary has publicly defended conditions which our whole people know to be scandalous in the extreme," Governor Pinchot said. "He has publicly denounced the proposal to let in the light on the federal enforcement service."

Declaring law enforcement to be the greatest moral issue now before the American people, Governor Pinchot asserted that it was time for the moral forces of America to attack the foes of the prohibition law. The federal enforcement service had failed, he said; it should be taken out of politics and the law enforced through the liquor permit system.

"The failure of the enforcement service is sometimes claimed to mean that the eighteenth amendment has failed," Governor Pinchot continued. "It means nothing of the sort. The law has not failed, Nicholas Murray Butler and other nullifiers of the law to the contrary notwithstanding."

Governor Pinchot then made his charge against Secretary Mellon.

"His opposition to the investigation of the enforcement service," he said, "will direct public attention and the attention of the investigating committee to the fact that Mr. Mellon was par owner of many thousands of barrels of Overholt whiskey when the eighteenth amendment went into effect; to the fact that as late as March 31 of this year he was, on the authority of Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, still interested in the proceeds of this whiskey when sold; to the illegal withdrawals of more than 42,000 barrels of whiskey from the Overholt warehouse near Pittsburgh, which led to indictments and to the fact that the indictments were quashed and the men responsible were never punished."

The government of the United States has pioneered in urging, step by step, mediation, arbitration and judicial process to avert the horrors of war and in meeting the proposal to enter the world court faces a concrete opportunity to serve humanity, Senator Si D. Fess told delegates to the Methodist men's convention here today in the course of a talk in which he urged American entry into the existing international judicial body. Fears that such action would draw the United States into the League of Nations, he characterized as "absurd."

Tracing efforts of prominent American statesmen and the development within the Republican party of sentiment in support of judicial settlement of international differences, Senator Fess said that support of the world court at this time would be "consistent with our policy of the past 50 years."

"It is an additional and also an advanced step which would be taken by us without a dissenting voice were it not recommended by the League of Nations," he continued. "To withhold our support would be to ignore our long-standing and well known efforts for peace and as a party repudiate our specific party pledges of every presidential campaign since 1904, when first made largely through the influence of President Roosevelt."

"Thus far the objections heard are not convincing. Objection because it does not carry power to enforce its findings made by those who properly objected to the League of Nations because it does provide force has but little weight. Objection because parties are not compelled to resort to the court for adjudication is not conclusive since we have not yet reached the stage of world understanding and interpretation of rights, obligations and policies to submit all questions justiciable and non-justiciable nilly-nilly to a world court. The only available plan is to provide a court to which disputes may be submitted only when both parties agree to do so."

Senator Fess asserted that "the one and leading objection that adherence to the protocol will put us into the League of Nations would be sufficient grounds to defeat, were it true, but concluded that 'this position is absurd.' He said that the proposal to establish a court was not submitted to the League for action but to member dual and sovereign character."

"Any necessary reservations to remove all reasonable fear that this leads in the League would doubtless be accepted by the senate and be certainly agreeable to the president, he said. 'His concern is not any pride of opinion, but he yearns with our people to accomplish something in the interest of peace. If wars cannot be wholly avoided, as they cannot, at least the chance of war can be lessened and their horrors can be mitigated by providing an agency of pacific settlement made up of trained minds to hear such cases as are agreeably submitted to it by the contending parties.'"

"The president's purpose is well understood. The exact situation of the senate can easily be foreseen and the verdict of the people, acting on available information, will be as definite, as if it had already been rendered."

S. C. WRIGHT WILL BE A CANDIDATE FOR PROBATE JUDGE

Deputy Probate Judge S. C. Wright will be a candidate for Probate Judge on the non-partisan judicial ballot in November, he announced Monday.

The announcement did not come as a surprise because of the general opinion that Probate Judge J. C. Marshall would not again seek the office and that his deputy was considering making the campaign to succeed him.

Mr. Wright studied law at the Northern Indiana University, before moving to Cedarville and graduated from Cedarville in 1903. From that year until 1911 he was in the newspaper business in Cedarville, editing and publishing a weekly paper there. He was appointed postmaster of Cedarville in 1910, a position he held until 1914, and from 1914 to 1917 he was head of the department of education of Cedarville College.

Mr. Wright resigned from the college faculty to become deputy probate judge under Judge Marshall when he began his first term in that office, and has served seven years as deputy in probate and juvenile court under Judge Marshall. He still makes his home in Cedarville, where he was for nine years a member of the Board of education.

The announcement of Mr. Wright is the first for that office, in which candidates will probably not come before the Republican primary, as they are elected on non-partisan tickets at the regular election. It is assurance that Judge Marshall will not again be a candidate, and it is whispered that the probate judge may seek the office of prosecuting attorney, although such an announcement has not yet been made.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Swisher, of North Detroit Street, are the parents of a son, born Saturday morning.

Nationalist Chief Will Back Dawes' Report.

POLICE COURT

HELD FOLLOWING RAID

Jennie Hickman, colored, East Third Street, is charged with possessing liquor following a raid on her home by police Saturday night.

Patrolman Fred Jones, Charles Simms and George Spencer were in the raiding party that confiscated two full quarts, two full pints and two full half-pint bottles of corn whiskey. They say the woman poured out some of the whiskey in a pitcher before they could stop her.

In Police Court Monday morning she asked for a continuance until Friday morning which was allowed by Judge E. D. Smith.

IS GIVEN SENTENCE

Robert Brown, 22, colored, was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to thirty days in the County Jail by Judge E. D. Smith in Municipal Court Monday morning when he was found guilty of petit larceny.

Brown is alleged to have stolen $15 and a pair of shoes from Buzz Stewart, 24, colored, with whom he was rooming at the home of Joe Day, East Main Street. Brown is said to have escaped with his roommate's property early Sunday morning.

Railroad detectives took Brown from a freight train in Columbus Sunday and he was returned to this city by Cliff Lathmer of the Pennsylvania Railroad police. Police say he had the shoes and $5 with him when arrested. He pleaded not guilty but was convicted of the charge at his hearing.

CHAIN PRAYERS ARE NOT ACCEPTABLE BY POSTAL AGENCIES

Hundreds of chain prayers that have been received at the Xenia Postoffice in the last month, will be thrown into the waste basket under a ruling of the solicitor of the Postoffice Department it was announced Monday.

The department solicitor has announced that chain prayers are not mailable material, and they are to be rejected at all postoffices or thrown away if they make their way into the regular mail channels, it is said, under orders that they must be destroyed.

The psychology of the chain prayer has probably never been explained but it offers a peculiar sidelight on the traits of the American people, it is said. Its popularity is periodical for it apparently sweeps the country by the thousands at times, and at other times seems to be dormant.

More than 1,000 such cards have been received at the office here during the last month. They are mailed on postcards and under the new ruling these cards will be examined for evidences of chain prayers. When found they will be destroyed. The writer in almost every case, commands the addressee to re-write and mail the prayer to ten other people, so that as a result the mail is flooded with thousands of these cards.

The addressor in practically all cases warns the addressee to watch for some especial blessing on the eleventh day.

PRINCESS ILEANA MAY BE BRIDE OF PRINCE OF WALES.

PRINCESS ILEANA & PRINCE OF WALES.

It is reported in the highest court circles in London that the coming visit of the King and Queen of Rumania to the King and Queen of England has for its principal object the betrothal of Queen Marie's youngest daughter, Princess Ileana, who is not yet sixteen, to the bachelor Prince of Wales. The Prince, it is said, has changed his attitude toward marriage and has consented to marry if his parents approve Ileana. Because of the youth of the Princess, the Prince insists on a prolonged delay of the wedding.

Nelly Don Wash Frocks

For Home and Informal Daytime Wear

Combining smartness with really little cost they meet the requirements of the mode, yet do not lose any of the practical grace, demanded by the modern woman of fashion.

Of the useful type, for informal wear, linen, tissue and gingham are used in fashioning these uncommon frocks. Some of them made in almost tailored styles, yet allowing themselves those little feminine touches that lend them individuality.

They're not the sort of dresses that pull out with washing or continued wear. Look at the buttons and snaps. They're sewed on to stay. The colors? A whole season of washing won't fade them. But, most of all, YOU WILL MARVEL AT THE PRICES!

A clever variation of the tailored mode—this stunning Irish Linen Dress. The colors edged with real Irish lace, and its slender line make it decidedly smart. In green, blue, orchid, leather brown.

Striking individuality is apparent in the tailored linen above. The binding of white silk braid, the long, close fitted sleeves, triple-flap pocket and voguish collar give it the effect of a tailored suit, rather than a dress.

A simple Irish Linen dress is devoid of trimming save for the graceful frill and cuffs of sheer pineapple cloth edged with narrow filet lace. This like all Nelly Don linens comes in orchid, blue, leather brown.

$8.95

Could anything be daintier than a frock of sheer barred dotted Swiss?

The bodice, skirt and little fichu sleeves are banded to match the dots in rose, orchid or blue.

$3.95

Summer can't be far off when a garden frock of Kalburnie Gingham trimmed in white dotted Swiss makes its appearance. In matchless material, a modern version of the old fashioned sunbonnet avoids the possibility of sunburn. Frock and sunbonnet complete in tan or blue.

WILBERFORCE CAPITOL TILT IS NOT HELD

Rain halted scheduled proceedings Saturday afternoon when Capital University, Columbus and Wilberforce University baseball teams were scheduled to engage each other at Wilberforce.

The game was delayed until after 3 o'clock and the rain stepped in and stopped hostilities before the players had taken the field. Coach Jerry Katherman has won three games with his Lutheran tossers this season, including a victory over Ohio Wesleyan and another over Antioch last Friday, and hoped to run the string of wins up to four against Wilberforce.

LET HIM HELP YOU—YOUR BANKER

Keep posted on the value of your securities from year to year. It will not take much of your time and may save you considerable money.

It is a good thing to show your banker or investment broker your list of bond holdings once or twice a year. Let him advise you as to whether any of your securities should be changed.

It sometimes happens that business conditions will change to such an extent over a period of time that the standing of a company's security obligations in the market is affected unfavorably. It is in such cases that your banker can be of great service to you. He may suggest a change to a better form of investment.

Be satisfied in your own mind, of course, that your advisor is competent to judge, and that he has no personal interest in the new security he offers you.

BRINGING UP FATHER

THE HALF-TIME WIFE By VIOLET DARE

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY.

SUZANNE ATWOOD, the young bride of

GEORGE ATWOOD, a prominent business man, is faced by the fact that his secretary,

LINDA VALE, is trying to come between them. Angry because Geoffrey has been seen with Mrs. Vale when she thought him out of town, Suzanne determines to flirt with

DUNCAN HALE, a young army officer to whom she was once engaged, although she is devoted to Geoffrey and to his two nephews, DICK and LARRY LEIGH.

XXIV—AN OPEN BREAK.

LATE that afternoon when his wife arrived home, Geoffrey Atwood was waiting for her. "Suzanne—" She had never heard him speak so severely before. "I wish you'd explain to me what you meant by not meeting for luncheon this noon, when you knew how important it was."

Suzanne sauntered over to a big chair near the fire and sat down on the arm of it, slowly drawing off her gloves. "You wouldn't let me explain when I talked with you," she answered. "I tried to tell you then that I couldn't meet you, but you just didn't listen. I had an important engagement of my own."

"I can't think of any engagement you might have that would be more important than lunching with me when I asked you to," he retorted. "You have changed so lately; I don't understand what has come over you. Until a short time ago you were charming; nobody could have asked for a more delightful companion than you were. But lately—"

"Lately Mrs. Vale has interfered with our affairs," she answered her eyes blazing. "And you have not cared whether she did or not. You communicate with me through her. You send word to me that you will not be in town, and then lunch publicly with her. Oh Geoff, I saw you that day, and it broke my heart. I decided then that I wouldn't care for you any more. Duncan Hale has been ready to step in; he has begged me to leave you and get a divorce, and marry him. I tried to be in love with him, before I met you, but we quarreled and he went away. I married you with love for him in my heart—I told you, quite frankly, you may recall."

"I didn't know it was Hale," Atwood replied, grimly.

"No. But now you do. He has been right on hand, sending me flowers, doing all that he could to make me happy, and unfortunately, the more he did for me, the more I cared for you. But you put Mrs. Vale between us; when I tried to talk with you about her, you refused to be reasonable. Well, I don't care any more. I've been warned that she wanted to marry you, and that my being your wife wouldn't interfere with her efforts. Evidently you prefer her society to mine. Very well. Go to her. But don't expect me to alter my life to suit yours."

She opened one of the French windows that gave on the terrace, and went out into the cool spring air. There was a soft, misty rain, that blew against her cheeks refreshingly. She hurried to the other end of the terrace, and through the dining room to the stairs.

As she ran along the upper hall Dick Leigh called to her.

"Suzanne, would you come here a second?" he asked. She went into the upstairs sitting room, and found him lying on a couch near the window. "I feel sort of queer—guess it's influenza or something; do you know what to do to choke it off?"

She laid one hand against his cheek, took his wrist in the other, fever," she told him, switching on a light. "Till—why Dickie, your face looks sort of queer. I'm going to call a doctor."

She did, and he arrived promptly, and gave his verdict a short order.

"Scarlet fever," he announced, and glanced down ruefully at his evening clothes. "I'll have to go home before I can go on to my dinner party," he added.

"Oh, Doc!" exclaimed Dick, who had known Dr. Hewitt since he was a small boy. "Don't condemn me to that. Why, I rushed home from college to escape it."

"Well, you brought it along with you; you've got a rash on your chest that's a beauty. And with your throat, and your head—boy, you're lucky to be where you are. Though I'll have to ship you off to a hospital immediately."

"Oh, please let him stay here," begged Suzanne. "I've had scarlet fever, and I know how to take care of it. And we'll get a nurse, and quarantine the house—"

"I met Geoff rushing out of the front door with a travelling bag as I came in," remarked the doctor, pausing in writing a prescription. "I'll bet you knew what this was and tipped him off."

"Of course I did," lied Suzanne. "I wasn't going to have him tied up here."

But during the night, as she looked after Dick, she wondered. Why had Geoff rushed away so quickly? Couldn't he bear to be in the same house with her since that last quarrel?

Monday—In Quarantine.

It is hard to believe, yet true, that the hardest task in the home, the work of washing clothes, has been made care-free.

Women are not mechanics and should not be encumbered with the care of a complicated machine, along with the weekly wash.

Things for Women to Consider

Above all a washer should be simple. Free from continual mechanical adjustments. Nothing to watch or bring trouble; nothing to oil or clean, and noiseless and non-vibrating when in operation.

The perfect big copper tub of the Coffield rocks silently on airplane bearings nearly a hundred times a minute, turning over the clothes within the tub many times. Surging suds are forced through each garment, taking every atom of dirt out of the sheer as well as the stouter pieces. The clothes do not come in contact with a single piece of machinery; there is not a thing in the tub but the wash.

"See, even the cuffs are clean" Makes the cleanest clothes that ever came out of suds.
